LOCAL EDUCATOR TRADES HER GRADING PEN FOR AUTHOR'S QUILL

For immediate release: In her debut work, The Crown Effect: Abundant Life in a Chaotic World (Ambassador International; March 5, 2024; $15.99), retired Walker County Schools teacher and administrator Kathy Vintson explores the themes of dysfunctional families, alcoholism, bullying and forgiveness. Offering personal examples of God's life-changing grace, she infuses practical wisdom with humor and applies the truth of God's Word to share what she learned about her godly inheritance and the transformation that occurred when she chose to believe His promise for her life.

From falling head-over-high heels in front of the entire church congregation to getting back up again with a smile, this book describes the profound effect that God's unconditional love, unearned help, unmerited favor and undeserved peace will have on you now, if you but choose to receive it.

Be prepared to laugh through, cry over and relate to Vintson's journey while learning what it means to see yourself the way God does, knowing you can face darkness when you walk in the light of God's grace, right in the middle of the chaos.

About the Author

Kathy Vintson hails from inner city Birmingham, Alabama. Raised by her grandparents, she learned the importance of trusting and believing in God for everything from a young age. Now retired from a career in education, she writes from a small corner desk that overlooks the lake, where she lives with her husband of more than thirty years.

In addition to creating inspirational blog content, Kathy serves as a motivational speaker for women. She is passionate about encouraging women to claim all God has for them in order to live joyful, successful, abundant lives and to face each season in anticipation of God's plan for them.

“The Crown Effect: Abundant Life in a Chaotic World by Kathy Vintson is a must read for anyone who has ever found themselves turned upside down by the chaos of life or believing the lies of unworthiness that we are fed by this world. Once we accept Christ, we become sons and daughters of the King, yet we so often settle for less than the peace, joy, grace-filled, life of abundance He offers His children. Kathy’s words are balm for hurting souls as we reorient ourselves to Who Christ is and who we are to Him. What beautiful truth this book gives every reader who is blessed to read these words!”

KATHY VINTSON Author of "The Crown Effect"

Kathy Vintson was born and raised in inner-city Birmingham, Alabama. Raised by her grandparents, Kathy learned at a very young age the importance of trusting and believing in God for, well, everything. She earned a Bachelor's degree in Business Education and a Master's in Educational Leadership and spent thirty-two years in the field of education as a high school teacher and principal. Recently retired, she writes from a small corner desk overlooking the lake where she lives with her husband of thirty-four years.

Kathy is a women's motivational speaker and maintains a blog where she seeks to inspire and motivate women. Her passion is encouraging women to claim all God has for them to live a joyful, successful, abundant life and face each season in anticipation of God's plan for their lives.

When she is not writing, Kathy is spending time on the lake with her adult children and grandchildren. God has richly blessed her with the family she longed for growing up and she is a living testimony of how the grace of God provides all we need to overcome chaos and live an abundant life.
